Through the looking glass

By ALICE

The rumors re the engagement of Jane E. Dailey of Wilkes-Barre to Jermyn's Bob Tomaine (son of Carl and Helen) are TRUE — she's sporting a lovely shiny diamond ring! From the looks of the activity at 40 Lincoln Ave., Bob's new commercial photography studio will be in business shortly.

Congratulations and best wishes to the MIRROR's postman, Bob O'Hara and his spouse who are chalking up 35 years of wedded bliss. . . . Happy belated (thanksgiving) birthday to Aggie (Sherry) McKenna, daughter of the Eugene McKennas of Jermyn, who helps hand-deliver the MIRROR in Jermyn and Mayfield every week and to whom we are forever indebted

Irene M. Channon weds Gerard J. Walsh

MR. AND MRS. GERARD J. WALSH

Vows of marriage were exchanged on Saturday, Sept. 12, at a Nuptial Mass in St. Mary of the Mills Church, Laurel, Md., between Miss Irene M. Channon, daughter of Mrs. Nancy Channon Skuba, Washington, D.C., and the late Kenneth Channon, and Mr. Gerard J. Walsh, son of Mrs. M. Dorothy Walsh, Forest City and the late Gerard J. Walsh, Sr.

The Rev. Roger Soley officiated before an altar adorned with bouquets of white roses and blue carnations. Fr. Soley bestowed on the couple the Apostolic Blessing which was received through Bishop Cansius van Lierde, Vatican City, the Vicar General of Pope John Paul II. After the wedding ceremony, the bride and groom presented a bouquet of white roses before a statue of the Blessed Virgin as a token of their devotion.

Given in marriage by her brother, Steven Channon, Highstown, N.J., the bride wore a designer gown of white chiffon and alencon lace styled with a Queen Anne neckline, embroidered bodice and bishop sleeves with embroidered cuffs. Her fingertip veil was adorned with matching lace and embroidery. The bride carried a bouquet of white roses.

Teresa Channon, sister of the bride, was matron of honor attired in a blue satin gown with pleated bodice and velvet belt. She carried a bouquet of blue and white roses.

Atty. Michael A. Walsh, Boston, Mass., was his brother's best man.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Argyle Country Club, Layhill, Md.

The bride's mother chose a street length silk peach dress with long sleeves and high neckline and matching wide-brimmed hat. Her corsage was of pink roses.

The mother of the bridegroom selected a street length cream chiffon dress with mandarin neckline, crystal pleated skirt, bordered in navy blue with lavender accents and a comb of matching silk flowers for her hair. Her corsage was of small orchids.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Virginia and is employed by the Department of Defense, Laurel, Md.

The bridegroom graduated from Forest City Regional High School and the University of Scranton. He spent three years in the U.S. Marine Corps and is employed by the Department of Defense, Laurel, Md.

Following a wedding trip to San Francisco and Monterey, Calif., the couple is residing in Laurel, Md.

Clifford PTO sponsors school mascot contest

By STEFAN KEKLAK

The Clifford Parent-Teacher Organization (PTO) recently sponsored a school mascot contest.

Kelli Kilmer won with her drawing of "Clifford Koala."

The children were shown equipment and its uses.

The class trip was sponsored by the P.T.O.

The Elder Guild will be selling handcrafts at its third annual Christmas Boutique at McMullin's Store, 44 Church St., Montrose. The sale will be held Tuesday through Saturday, Nov. 24-28, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

With a membership of 500 in the counties of Bradford, Tioga, Sullivan and Susquehanna, Elder Guild, Inc. is prepared to offer for sale handcrafts of every description. Through the generosity of the McMullin family, Elder Guild will occupy the large basement of their store in downtown Montrose.

Many Elder Guild members (persons 55 and over) need to supplement their income, so this sale presents a great opportunity for them to sell their skillfully handcrafted items.

Volunteers staff every minute of the sale, giving generously of their time to this worthwhile organization.

The types of crafts you will see are endless — from bird feeders to ceramics, to artistic dried flower arrangements — and oh! the dolls — every kind you can think of, beautifully made to last and be loved.

There will be other kinds of toys and gifts young children can afford to buy.

You will find McMullin's a half block from the only traffic signal in town.

The Clifford Parent-Teacher Organization will sponsor a "Santa's Workshop Shopping Spree" this year.

It will be held in the Clifford Elementary School auditorium on Dec. 9 from 11:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and on Dec. 10, from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Children will be able to purchase Christmas presents priced 50 cents and up. Parents with pre-school children are welcome.

Recently, Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Miller, RD 1, Carbondale, visited Leta and Glen Bell in Endwell, N.Y.

Mr. Miller, while visiting there, took advantage of the hunting season which starts earlier in New York State than in Pennsylvania. He went with Mr. Bell to the Catskills and on the second day of hunting had good luck, bagging a four-point buck.

While there, Mrs. Miller visited his older sister, and brother and wife who live in Binghamton, N.Y.

Last week Mr. Wasil Masnik visited us with his school work he does.

He enrolled in the course of Ukrainian language which is sponsored by the Ukrainian Working Men's Association in Scranton at its Wyoming Avenue association home.

Mr. Masnik owns property at Crystal Lake and is employed by Fairview State Hospital as a waterhouse operator, taking care of the water pumps which supply the hospital with water.

Last Sunday I met, at the Mountain View Restaurant in Clifford, Mr. Emerico Smargassi from Archbald. He is a retired Archbald patrolman.

While on the police force, he patroled very conscientiously the Eynon Drug Store and its property. I worked there one time on the nightshift; therefore I know about it.

The Mountain View Senior Citizens will hold their Christmas dinner on Dec. 7, 12 noon, at the Mountain View Restaurant.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sandell, New Cumberland, recently spent a week with Clara Yarns. While visiting they attended the 40th wedding anniversary of Mr. Sandell's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Landon.

The Clifford Baptist Church recently honored Ruth Hasbrouck on her 90th birthday.

She was presented with a silk flower arrangement and surprise lunch was served in the social room. Rachel Kochmer presented her with a birthday cake.

Fights and attempted suicides keep city police really hopping

By PETE SMITH
Carbondale Mirror night editor

City police were literally hopping Friday night after responding several times to disturbance calls on Canaan Street, which resulted in the arrests of three persons, and then receiving practically back-to-back calls about two attempted suicides.

"We needed 10 men Friday night," Sgt. John Barbaro told The Mirror Saturday when asked about Friday night's details.

Police were summoned to 72 Canaan St., Carbondale, at 7:55 p.m., when they received a call of a disturbance at the address.

When they arrived, they found two men, who they identified as Martin and Edward Ash, fighting with the neighbors at 5 Gravity Ave.

According to Patrolman Frank Hacken, the two men were told to stop or they would be cited for their actions, but police were called back once again to the address.

When police were summoned back to the scene at 8:20 p.m., they reported that one of the Ash brothers had a gun, which turned out to be a starting pistol. Police weren't able to recover the pistol.

Women fighting

Meanwhile, they reported that two women were at the scene fighting with each other. One of the two Lisa Wood, 72 Canaan St., was cited by Patrolman Dominick Andidora for disorderly conduct. She was reportedly involved in an argument with Patricia Burke, 5 Gravity Ave. Miss Burke was not cited.

Police then made a third trip to Canaan Street 15 minutes later to quell another disturbance. It was at this time that a second arrest was made. Martin Ash, 72 Canaan St., Carbondale, was cited by Patrolman Hacken for disorderly conduct. Hacken told The Mirror that this arrest stemmed from the first trip to Canaan Street.

Contingent of policemen

Two hours later a contingent of patrolmen was summoned to Canaan Street after they received a call of a fight in progress. Patrolman Hacken reported that a rifle was confiscated after police were told that Francis Burke, 118 Rushbrook St., Jermyn, was using the weapon to threaten Martin and Edward Ash.

Burke was issued a citation by Patrolman Dominick Andidora for disorderly conduct. Meanwhile, police had to put Martin Ash in the city lockup for the night after he became disorderly.

Police responding included Police Chief John Burke, Sgt. Barbaro, Patrolmen Hacken, Andidora, Joseph Jacobina, and Francis Coleman. Carbondale Township Police Chief John Symonies and Fell Township patrolman Warren Bintliff also assisted at the scene.

Attempted suicides

Carbondale police also received calls of two attempted suicides in the city. The first call they received came at 10:10 p.m. Although police could not release the name of the victim, The Mirror learned that the youth had slit his wrists. According to Sgt. Barbaro, however, the blood coagulated and the youth refused treatment.

Responding to the scene was the Cottage Hose ambulance. Sgt. Barbaro was assisted at the scene by Patrolman Andidora.

The second attempted suicide call came 40 minutes later. Again police said they would prefer not to release the name of the victim, although they did say a woman had taken several cardiac pills and had left a note. Mobile II was summoned to the scene, but it was determined that the woman was in no danger since a small amount of pills had been taken.

City hall reports

Building inspector's report

Twelve permits were issued during the month of November by the office of city building inspector Walter Turonis.

The permit fees amounted to a total of $420. The valuation for the permits issued amounted to $160,970.

Those issued permits were (valuation listed first and permit fee collected second):

Joe Wagner, 5 Parnell, $3,000, $15; Joe Kohut, 106 Park, $2,000, $10; Bernard Cerra, 23 Villa, $3,000, $15; Frank Konosky, 28 Cottage, $3,000, $15;

Gemma Perri, 5 Orchard, $1,370, $10; Walter Casper, 122 Terrace, $4,000, $20; Walter Connors, 98 S. Main, $3,000, $15; Arlene Sorlak, 27 Havana, $2,000, $10.

Carbondale Housing Authority, $124,000, $205; Frank Dix, 1 Washington Place, $600, $10; Mary Price, demolition, no valuation listed, $20; Fred Talerico, 90 Archbald, $15,000, $75.

Garbage collections

The city's contractd garbage collector has been late a couple of days the past several weeks, but as of Saturday, the garbage collections were caught up.

City Managing Director Martin P. Judge told the Carbondale Mirror that the contractor's truck had a couple of bad breakdowns. In fact, he said, collection crews were seen twice recently working on the truck as it was parked in the city hall parking lot.

Judge noted that if the contractor misses collecting in any part of the city during a calendar week, he is instructed to withhold payment.

Allied plans?

What are the plans of Allied Services for the Handicapped for a piece of land near the Fallbrook Creek?

Managing Director Martin P. Judge told the Carbondale Mirror this week that he has heard nothing from the Scranton-based Allied since he revealed to council that Allied is not sure it wants the property it took an option on nearly two years ago.

At that meeting, Judge informed council that Allied is looking at other properties.

As noted in last week's issue of the Carbondale Mirror Judge told the MIRROR, "The conversation I've had with them (Allied) is that they've had trouble getting the property approved by HUD (the federal housing and urban development agency)."

Judge said the main problem appears to be one of compaction on the site which is part of the former West Side Mine Fire.

30 days to pay

Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. (PP&L) has given the city 30 days to pay up on its electric bill.

That is what the utility told the mayor in a letter received at city hall. Copies of the letter have been forwarded to members of council.

PP&L told the city that it wants it money within 30 days to avoid any legal action.

This dunning apparently does not affect the city's seeking to put up new street lights in various sections of the city.

Martin P. Judge, city managing director, told the MIRROR Monday that a contract has been so timetable established for installing the new lights.

Bids on M&M building

The city is once more trying to sell the M&M Bank building it acquired several years ago for $60,000. At that time the city's Community Development Program had plans to demolish that building and an adjacent one for a parking lot.

However, those plans fell through and the city has since tried several times to sell the building.

Bids are being accepted on the building. Those bids will be opened at a special meeting of council set for Monday night, Dec. 7.

The MIRROR was told that one prospect has expressed an interest in the building.

A couple of others have been around to look at the building, the MIRROR was told, but it was unsure if they had picked up the specifications on the bidding.

Revenue sharing down

When Revenue Sharing figures were released last week, it was reported that the City of Carbondale has had its allocation for next year cut from $175,200 to $166,516.

Does that create problems for the city?

City managing director Martin P. Judge told the Carbondale Mirror Monday that he believed the city's finance office had drawn up the 1982 budget, using the full amount figure.

Asked what has to be done now that allocation has been cut by some $9,000, Judge replied, "We'll just have to make more cuts somewhere."

About a week

The traffic signal at Sixth and Main may still be on the blink — quite literally — but its days are numbered.

Martin P. Judge, city managing director, told the MIRROR that the city recently sent a purchase order to the Texas factory where the broken controller unit was sent to be repaired.

Judge said that the part should be returned to the city in about a week or so.

The traffic signal went on the fritz following a lightning storm which struck the city late in September.

Sweeper away

The city's vac-all street sweeper was cleaned out Friday and put away for the winter.

The street sweeper uses water to clean the streets. Until the recent drop in temperatures, the city had been frequently using the machine since no snow covered the city's streets.

However, once the temperatures dropped to the freezing mark, the unit had to be drained of the water so that the internal workings of the machine would not be ruined.

State cindered

Motorists traveling on some main city streets Monday morning may have noticed cinders on those thoroughfares.

Checking with city hall, the MIRROR learned that it was the state which spread the cinders on the streets.

So far this season, the city has not had to do any work street work.

Special council meeting

Carbondale city council will meet in special session Monday, Dec. 7, 7:30 p.m., in the council chambers of city hall.

The session will deal with the opening of bids for the sale of the former M&M Bank Building.

See legal notice elsewhere in this week's issue.

Police nab city burglary trio

By PETE SMITH

Carbondale police have arrested two city youths and charged them both with several burglaries which occurred over the past three months.

Lt. Detective Francis Dottle has charged Joseph Bruno, 24, whose address was listed as the Hotel Chellino, Carbondale, with three counts of burglary, theft, receiving stolen goods, and criminal trespass.

Charged with two counts each of the above charges is Maddox Dombroski, 82½ Belmont St., Carbondale.

Bruno is alleged to have burglarized the home of Dave Winters, 25 Sand St., Carbondale, which was reported to police on Aug. 18. He is also alleged to have burglarized the home of Ray Soma, 10 Sand St., Carbondale, on Sept. 28, and the Holman residence, 20 Sand St., Carbondale, on Oct. 30.

Lt. Dottle also noted in his report that Bruno had a juvenile accomplice in the Winters burglary.

Meanwhile, Dombroski is charged with the Soma and Holman burglaries, but was not involved in the Winters break-in.

Police also report that they have confiscated a 7mm rifle that was taken in the Holman burglary.

Penn State will sponsor guitarist

The Pennsylvania State University's Worthington Scranton Campus Art and Lecture Series Committee will sponsor a performance by classical guitarist Allen Krantz on Wednesday, Dec. 9, at 8 p.m. The concert will be held in the Study Learning Center at the Dunmore Campus.

Krantz is an exciting young performer who has delighted audiences on both coasts as well as on television and radio. His repertoire ranges from the renaissance to the twentieth century, and includes original compositions and music from Japan and India, as well as the traditional European and Latin American guitar literature.

He holds a bachelor of music degree from the San Francisco Conservatory and a master of music degree from Stanford University, and has studied with such noted guitarists as Michael Lorimer and Oscar Ghiglia among others. He has appeared often on college campuses, community concert series and in numerous chamber music ensembles and festivals, as well as with orchestras.

Recently, he performed duets with Russian mandolinist Emanuel Schrynkman in Carnegie Hall as part of the Soviet Empire Music Festival.

The performance is open to the general public at a cost of $2 per person. Students under 18, Penn State students and senior citizens will be admitted free of charge. For further information, phone the Worthington Scranton Campus at 961-4311.
